

ANIMAL FUN FACTS: THE ZEBRA!

Zebras live in groups called herds or DAZZLES, where they look out for each other.

Their dazzling stripes help confuse predators and even keep pesky flies away.

Scientists say that no two zebra stripes are the same, like our thumbprints!

Zebras can gallop up to 40 miles per hour to escape danger.

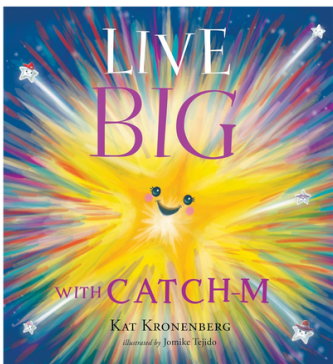

A baby zebra is called a foal, and it can stand and walk within minutes after birth!

Zebras bark, bray, and snort to talk to one another—it's their wild way of saying "hello!"

When threatened, zebras stand shoulder to shoulder to protect the youngest in the group.

Some zebras migrate hundreds of miles across Africa each year to find fresh grass.

Zebras are part of the horse family—they're the wild, stripy horses of the savanna!
